A Child's Guide to the Center
2013

WELCOME

Welcome to the Texas Children's Cancer and Hematology Centers!

Here is a little travel guide to help you navigate your way through the clinic, especially for your first visit.

We hope these landmarks will make you feel more familiar with us, even before you get here.

We look forward to meeting you at the Centers!

We are inside Texas Children's Hospital, which has many buildings...

...but our clinic is in a big building called the Clinical Care Center. Can you guess what floor we are on?

This is Ginger Rhinestone and Frida Stare! They were from the Houston CowParade. These cows are by the elevators on the first floor.

The elevators can be fun. Make funny faces in the mirror as you go up to the 14th floor.

Here's another cow! She was donated by Parents Against Cancer. You will see her when you get off of the elevator on the 14th floor.

The front desk will give you a pager, just like at a restaurant.

As part of the Arts In Medicine Program, you can play or create art while you wait.

Can you find the cow in the clinic?
It's Winnie-the-Moo!

And another!
Ani-MOO Crackers!

When your pager buzzes, you will see an aquarium filled with beautiful, multi-colored fish in Band-Aid Junction.

The nurse will measure how tall you are and hug your arm with a blood pressure cuff to measure your blood pressure.

The doctor will see you now!

Sometime you may have to stay for a little bit, but there are always friends coming to visit. This is Jeff and Craig, they play baseball on TV!

There is always something to do at the Center. We look forward to meeting you!
