WELCOME LETTER

I would like to personally welcome you to the 23rd Global Health Network Meeting. It's an exciting time for the Network as we continue to grow and change, remaining endlessly adaptable, inspired, and alert to the evolving global health landscape. The global health partnership between Texas Children's Hospital and Baylor College of Medicine is embracing a time of transitional transformation and we are meeting this exciting transformation with innovation and growth. The expansion of global health service equity is an area in which to eagerly study and serve, and we will continue to network and bring brilliant and enthusiastic individuals together in forums like this, to ensure our partnerships remain viable and cutting edge.

I would like to give you an idea of what to expect and what we hope to accomplish over the coming week. We will explore topics, such as Grant Lifecycle, Proposal Development, Quality Improvement, TB Updates, Abstract to Publication, What's New in HIV? Novel Nutrition Programs, COVID Innovations, Adolescent Care, EMR Editor and Recording Ability, Global Health Security, and Wellness.

Let me give you a brief update on where we are today. We are transforming the way we operate to continuously improve our ability to support, guide and mobilize resources to our Network Foundations and programs. Our Network has continued to excel in meeting the challenges of health systems strengthening, clinical care support, public health policy and advocacy, and research. We should all be very proud of where we are today, as a Network, and excited about where we are headed together.

Before I close, I would like to thank each delegate for attending this Network meeting and bringing your expertise to our assembly. You, as Foundation and program leaders, have the experience, the vision, the knowledge, and the wherewithal to help us pave the way for the future of our partnership. You are truly our greatest assets today and tomorrow, and we could not accomplish what we do without your leadership, dedication, and support. Throughout this Network meeting, I kindly ask you to stay engaged, proactive and supportive to shape the future of Texas Children's Global Health Network. My deepest personal respect and gratitude goes out to you all.

Best Regards,

THEMES & TRACKS

Conference Theme Overview

The theme of this year's Network Meeting is “Leading Innovation and Growth.”

What is innovation?

Innovation describes the development and application of concepts, tools, and/or technologies that improve processes and services or make their implementation more efficient. Innovation in healthcare includes new or improved health systems, practices, policies, procedures, technologies, services, and service delivery methods that result in better-quality healthcare. Improvements and expansions in research, patient education and satisfaction, and access to care are additional factors, which lead to quality healthcare. Accordingly, quality healthcare is essential to the advancement of health equity around the globe. Innovation is also key to organizational growth. As a network of public-private partnerships focused on improving global health equity, our Texas Children’s Global Health Network is, in and of itself, unique and innovative. Simply put, innovation leads to higher efficiency, meaning that the same input generates greater and more effective output. As efficiency rises, more services and better services are provided – in other words, the Network grows.

What is organizational growth?

Organizational growth is a stage an organization reaches when it can consider expansion and may look for additional opportunities to produce more options and services. Let us remember that so long as we embody the spirit of “Innovation and Growth,” we put our Network on the path to improving and achieving high-quality healthcare and accelerating health equity around the world.
